

Bob Carl's Burger King Adventure

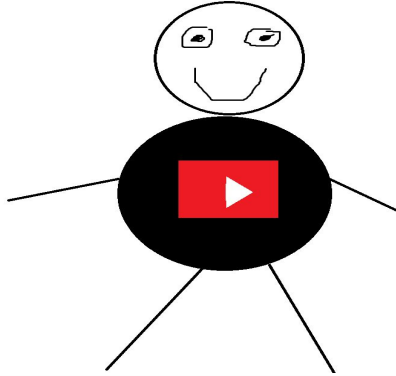

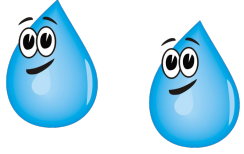

By: Cody Harsey

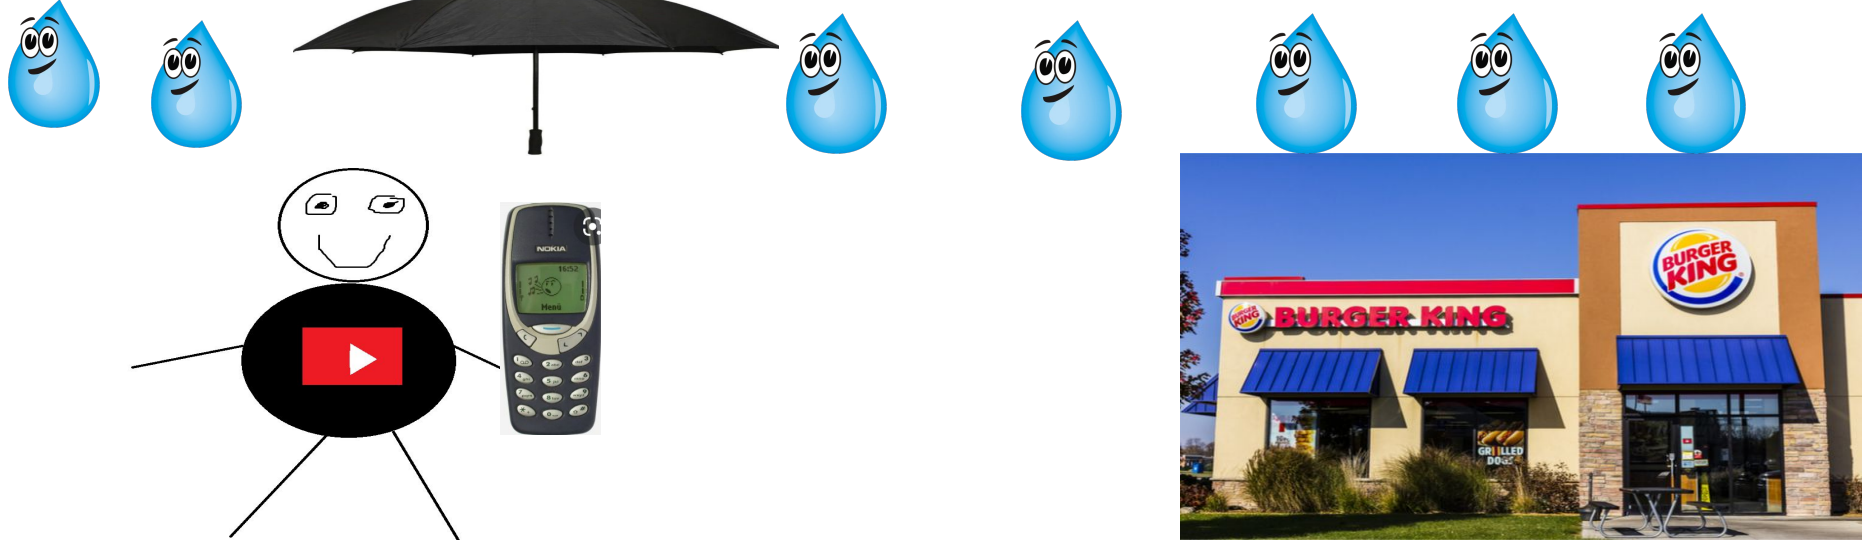

One day Bob decided to go to Burger King.

OH NO!!!!!!! It is raining.

Bob pulled out his Rain Alert System device.

Hooray! Bob can no longer be soaked!

THE END

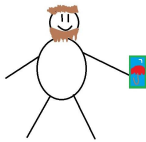

One of Derrick's favorite activities to do alone is to fish on the weekends

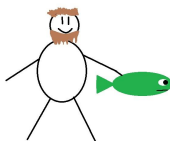

Sometimes Derrick is caught out in the rain while fishing, since his favorite fishing spot is distant from his home he is unable to go back for any rain gear. Derrick hates when his clothes get soaked and he can't concentrate on fishing

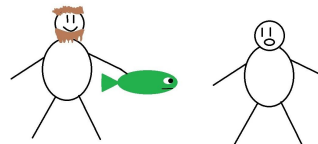

One day Derrick gets an ad on Facebook for an app that sends alerts to bring rain gear if rain is in the forecast. Derrick downloads the app and sets it to remind him on the weekends before he goes fishing to bring his umbrella if need be.

Next week, Derrick almost leaves the house without his umbrella before he goes fishing. Luckily, he gets a reminder from the app he downloaded to bring his umbrella. When Derrick goes to fish, he is able to fish more comfortable for longer.

Because Derrick is able to concentrate on his fishing without having to worry about soaking wet clothes, he catches a really big fish!

Derrick comes back from his fishing trip and is able to show off his prize and impress his friends!

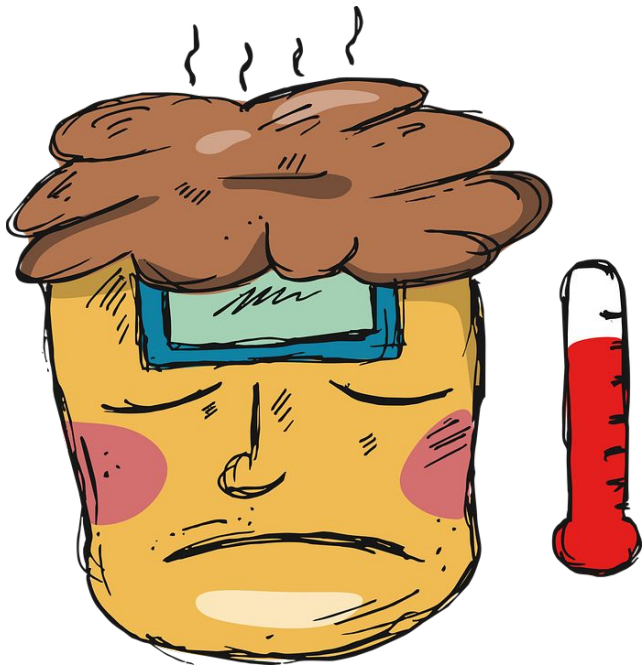

Jon just like everyday is going to his blue collar job.

Hi job typically takes place outside.

However today, unlike other days, will rain. John is unaware of this fact and is unprepared. As a result, he works in the rain in his soaking wet clothes for the rest of the day.

FIRED!

As a result of working in the rain, he gets a fever that forces him to stop working for a few days. He loses his job as a result.

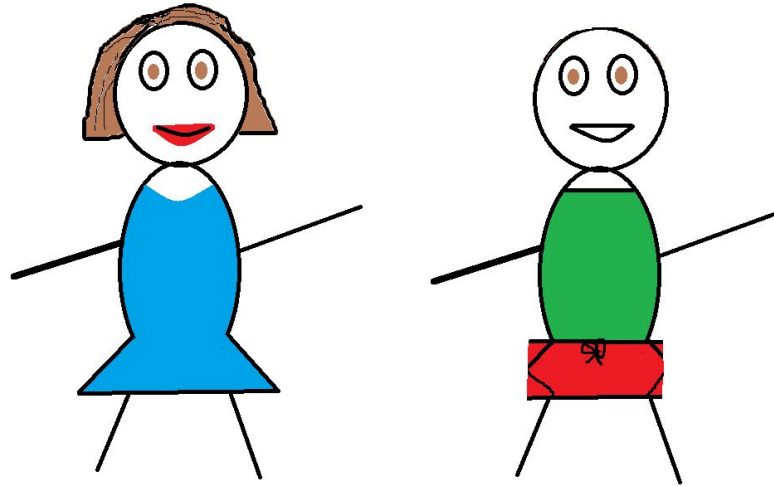

From this experience, it makes him never want to be unprepared for the rain again so he downloads the Alert System for Rain on to his phone.

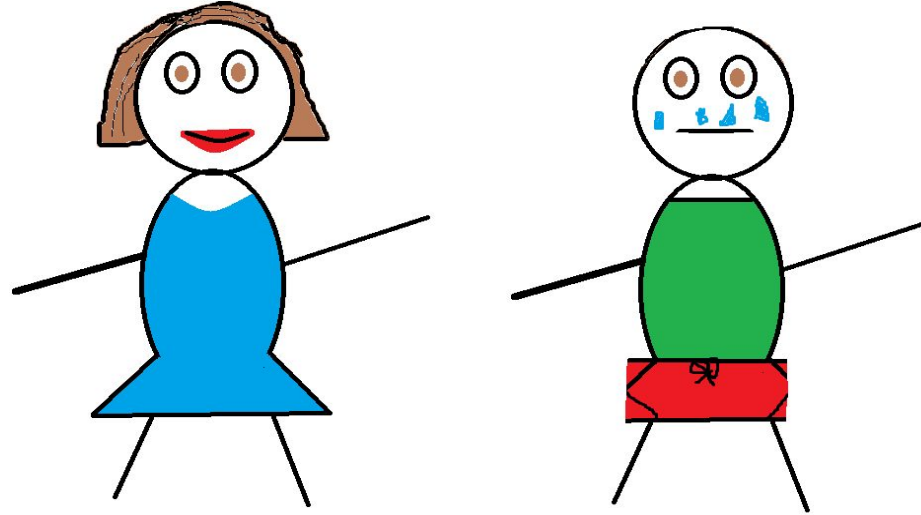

Ever since he downloaded the app, he is never unprepared for the rain again and manages to find and keep a even better job than the one that he was fired from.

Meet Stephanie and Jordan

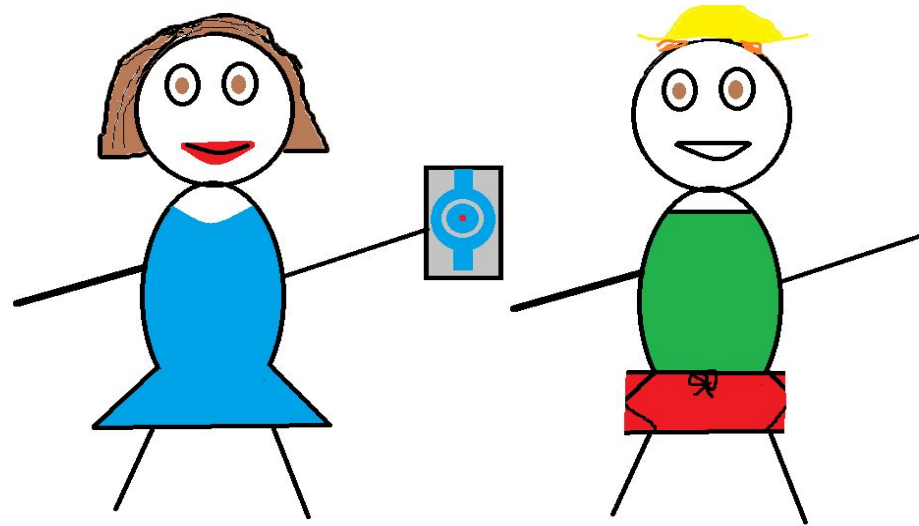

Stephanie would always make Jordan breakfast every morning and would try and help him have a great day at work.

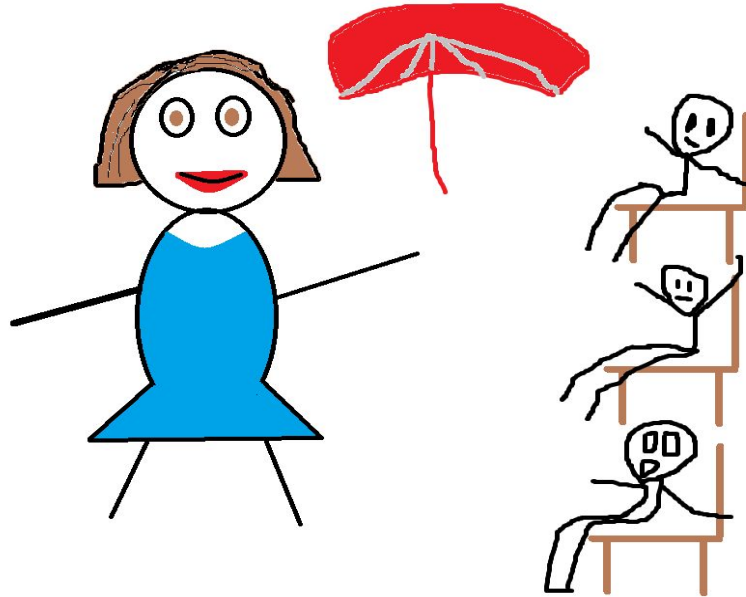

Jordan comes home from work sad because the weather app lied and told him it wasn't going to rain today and it rained and now Stephanie wants to help him out.

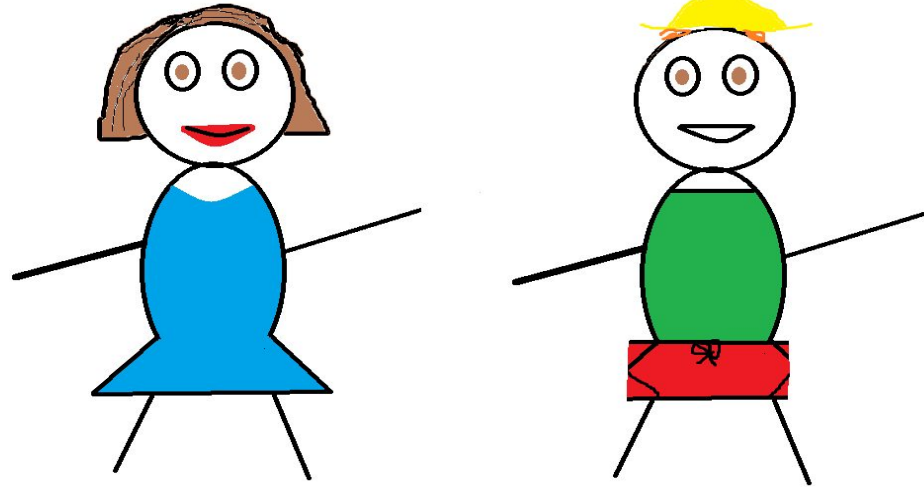

Stephanie after doing some research finds the Rain Alert app that helps give you alerts based on the schedule for the day of whether or not it will rain and gives you advise on whether or not you should need rain gear.

Due to Stephanie downloading the app, today when she was teaching social studies it began to rain and this time she had her umbrella with her.

Since Stephanie and her husband Jordan knew it was going to rain today and were reminded about this due to the app, they both came home way happier from work and ended up being happier in the evening as well.

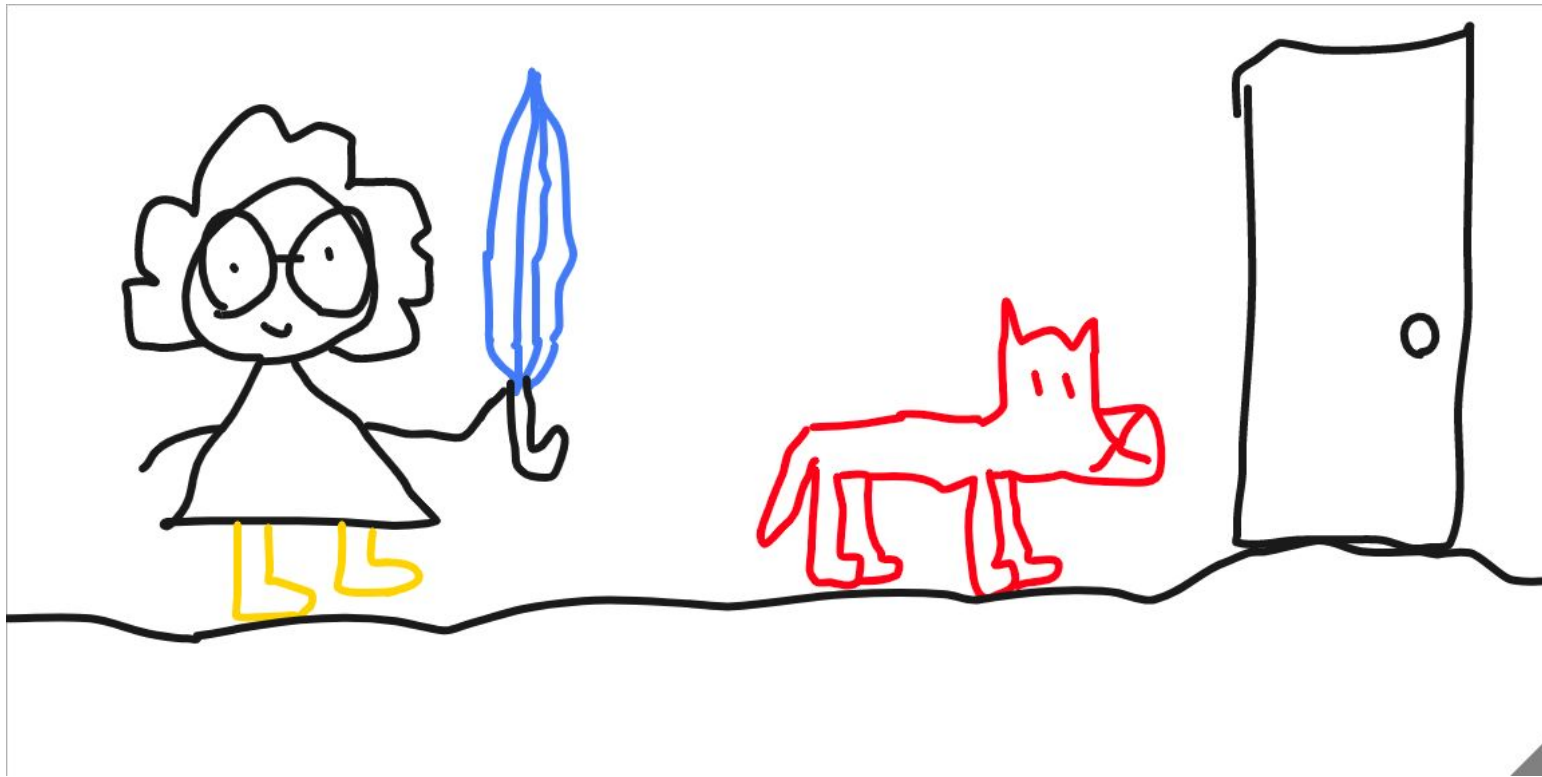

Eleanor Rigby, a 72 year old women, decided to start daily morning walks to improve health. In the middle of her first walk with her dog, Clifford The Small Red Dog, she caught in the rain.

Because of the rain, Eleanor and Clifford came home soaking wet, which gave Eleanor a small cold. What could help Eleanor's situation?

That night, Eleanor Rigby decided to download the Rain Alert App on her iPad so that she can know if rain equipment is necessary for her walk tomorrow morning.

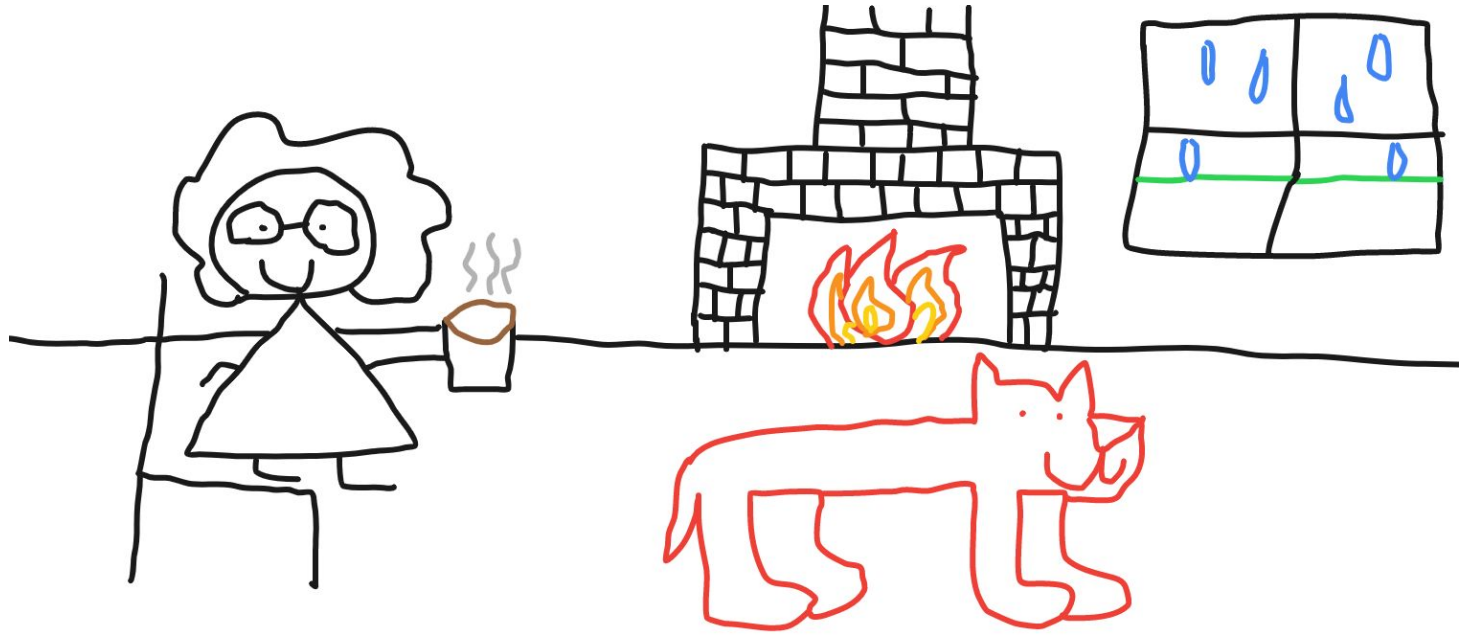

The next morning, the Rain Alert App told her to bring a umbrella and rain boots because there would be a huge downpour and maximum puddles. She followed the instructions.

Activate Win

As Eleanor Rigby and Clifford the small red dog was walking, hard rain started pouring and puddles started forming. Luckily, the Rain Alert App correctly predicted this and told Eleanor the appropriate gear to wear.

Activate Win
Get Feedback

Eleanor and Clifford got home safe and dry. To celebrate Rain Alert app success, Eleanor made hot cocoa and Clifford got to sit near the warm fireplace.